Your choice for quality and style!

If you're looking for a premium exterior cladding product with sophisticated style and outstanding performance, there's no better choice than Procanna. Procanna siding profiles offer the natural, low-gloss cedar-grain look without the high maintenance of wood or fiber cement products.

What makes Procanna siding a premium product?

Add to the fact that it's virtually maintenance free, Procanna siding boasts a long list of benefits. It's innovative locking system holds panels securely in place, even in high-wind areas and it's superior rigidity ensures panels lay straight on the wall without buckling or bowing. An experienced team of craftsman guarantees the style, strength and durability you demand for as long as you own your home.

Vinyl siding uses only modest amounts of energy in the manufacturing process. Because it is such a light weight product, it requires less fuel consumption in transportation. Vinyl Siding qualifies for 4 points in the National Green Building Standard points system because it does NOT require additional finish resources during application.
